

Sunny's Christmas Dinner (cont.)

Fred: GET THE TURKEY!

Jason: He swoops by a clump of bread, he dodges Niota, and he grabs the turkey, he's going to run it...

Fred: TOUCHDOWN!

Grandpa: At least you saved the turkey!

The fighting eventually calmed down, and Sunny, Cheryl, Fred, Niota, Jason, Davis, Grandpa and Grandma had a very merry Christmas.

What happened on New Years? Sunny made sure that Niota stayed away from the "Sizzling Cider" (she's allergic to it, if you didn't know), and they watched the ball drop. Yup, they get T.V. reception up there, too.

Oh, and Sunny found another picture of himself. It's the snowflake.

Sunny is ready for Christmas Vacation!
Sunny's Page is on Page 2!

Real Appeal

▶ Christmas/New
Years Edition

Sidebar Heading

- Sunny's Christmas Dinner Page 3, 8
- Cash Control Page 4, 7
- Contest Results Page 6

December 2007

► Christmas Edition

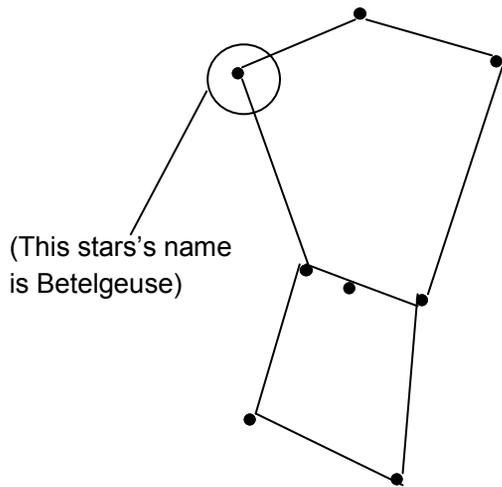

Sunny Days's Page

I am ready for CHRISTMAS VACATION!!!!!! There is nothing that will stand in my way! I even have a little Santa cap on! What better way to get into the Christmas spirit than wearing a Santa hat!

Anyway, have you seen Orion lately? He is a constellation in the sky. He should be around here somewhere... anyway, here is a little

"map" of him:

Trust me, this is horrible; you have better luck looking in an encyclopedia. You get the basic idea, right? Orion is commonly found this season; look for his belt!

That's your star facts for this month. ALSO, Orion has a club and a shield, not shown here. Like I said, you'll have better luck with an encyclopedia or the internet.

Real Appeal

Are you $$$ smart?

1. WOW. The most amazing new invention is created. It's kid-friendly, and you REALLY want it. Trouble is, the price is skyrocket high. What do you do?
 - A. Get the money from my parents.
 - B. Save up your money to buy it.
 - C. Find something else that isn't as pricey.
2. Your mom or dad asks if you want to open up a savings account at the local bank. What would you say?
 - A. Whatever.
 - B. I'd rather have my money with me all the time.
 - C. Sure. I'll even get a little more money from interest!
3. You can get some dessert at school for 50 cents a day. Would you get dessert?
 - A. Fifty cents? Seriously, that's pathetic. I can afford it easy!
 - B. Yeah! Fifty cents is cheap!
 - C. No; over time, that can add up!
4. Your brother (or sister, or cousin) wants to borrow some money. Would you lend it to him/her in the first place?
 - A. No! Get a life! Get a job! Don't ask me!
 - B. Sure, only if they pay me back.
 - C. I'll tell him that he/she might consider a job.
5. Your parents unexpectedly have to cut your allowance. What do you do?
 - A. I go on a hunger strike until they give my regular allowance back!
 - B. I jack up my lemonade prices up a bit...
 - C. Don't complain and live with it.

If you got mostly:

A's: Your spending could get out of hand someday.

B's: You kind of balance out your savings and spending. That's good!

C's: You're saving up for something special!

► Christmas Edition

Contest Results

The results of the Essay Contest: No one submitted a story before the deadline! No one won!

The results of the Haiku Contest: Due to an unexpected error, all haikus were lost. I am so sorry for all of those people that entered.

The results of the Song of the Year Contest: The song of the year award goes to... GIRLFRIEND by AVRIL LAVIGNE! Congratulations! Since we didn't have NEARLY enough songs to have a major vote, I just picked the one that had the most votes at the first submission. It just turned out to be Girlfriend! Don't worry, the competition for the Song of the Year will come up again next time!

SONG OF THE YEAR!

GIRLFRIEND

AVRIL LAVIGNE

P.S. No contests this month! Happy New Year!

Real Appeal

Sunny's Christmas Dinner

Sunny: Okay everybody. Guess what. I HAVE TO HAVE CHRISTMAS DINNER AT MY HOUSE WITH MY SIBLINGS. This could get bad.

At the dinner table

Sunny: Wow Cheryl, this turkey looks good.

Niota: GIMMIE THE CRANBERRIES!

Fred: Wait your turn Niota!

Niota: Knowing you, you'll just take all of the cranberries and leave me with nothing!

Fred: (scrapes out the cranberry dish) Yeah, so?

Niota: SO! YOU JUST PURPOSELY TOOK ALL OF THE CRANBERRIES! THERE ARE OTHER THINGS TO EAT AT THIS TABLE!

Grandma: Now Niota, I'll give you a lollipop if you behave!

Davis: I WANNA LOLLIPOP! I WAN IT! I WAN IT! GIMMIE IT GRAMMA! (starts throwing a tantrum) GIMMIE THAT LOLLIPOP!

Grandma: Oh here Davis, here's the lollipop!

Niota: YOU CAN GIVE DAVIS A LOLLIPOP BECAUSE HE'S THROWING A TANTRUM! I'LL THROW A TANTRUM TOO! (gets up on the table and dances in the mashed potatoes)

Grandpa: I was going to eat those!

Cheryl: I was too!

Jason: I think we can solve this in a peaceful manner...

Niota: (smothers herself in sweet potatoes)

Sunny: (turns very, very red) YOU... BATHED... IN... THE... SWEET... POTATOES... THIS... MEANS...

Fred: FOODFIGHT! (Throws salt in Cheryl's eyes)

Cheryl: MY EYES! THE PAINFUL SENSATION! (throws clump of mashed potatoes carelessly into Jason's face.)

Jason: Oh, so no peacefulness can solve this problem! Fight!

Fred: No, I have an idea! (whispers into Jason's ear and Jason grins)

Jason: Alright, we have to save the turkey!

Read more on the back cover...

► Christmas Edition

I NEED $$$!!!

No, I don't need it, but maybe you do... here are some quick tips on how to (try) to make some green!

1. Do your chores without asking and do some extra chores. (Sometimes, your parent's may not pay in cash for chores, but that could mean a shopping trip for you!)
2. During the summer, you can mow lawns for a fee. In autumn, you can rake leaves, and in winter you can scoop snow for some cash. (Remember not to charge too much.)
3. Ask your parents if they can consider buying energy efficient appliances. Also try to use less power yourself, so your parents don't get stressed out by power bills. How does this affect you? Your parents could have a little extra money to add to your allowance, and you help conserve power!
4. Are you good at something that everybody loves? If your good at making stuff, like pot holders or quilts, maybe you could go door-to-door with your pot holders or something and see if you can sell stuff! (Remember to make things reasonably priced, because people don't want to buy a pot holder for $100!)
5. ALWAYS manage your money. Think ahead. If you open a savings account or don't buy that pricy Lego set (gee guess where that came from), you could save up a lot of money and buy a car, a house, or a pet! Try to have a balance between the two, so none of them become too powerful (even if you want your savings account to be really, really full of $$$.)

Take a quiz on page 7 to see if you are good at saving your cash!

Real Appeal

NOTICE!

PLEASE NOTE! PRETTY SOON REAL APPEAL WORLD (Real Appeal's website) will have an issue of Real Appeal that hasn't been released for quite some time! Be sure to be on the lookout, for this special event is coming soon! Tell your friends! Every single one of them will want to see this thought-to-be long lost issue of Real Appeal. This is a very rare occurring, so be ready! It won't stay around for long, either, so you'll have to be quick!

TELL EVERY ONE OF YOUR FRIENDS!

If you ever decide to create a website of your own, just go to <http://www.weebly.com/> to start creating a free site! If you have any questions just ask me! We are always looking for sites!

Click and visit!

Click and create!