Website Interviews

Hello, it's me, Sunny Days with an article that will BLOW YOUR MIND! We asked a website or two about submitting an article for the summer edition! Here is one from <http://mypuppypage.weebly.com> ! (sorry bout the break in the address)

To those who love puppies, this would be a fun site to go. My Puppy Page is a fun site where we have games, polls, a chat box, stories, poems, videos, quizzes, and much more. Every week on Wednesday and Friday, we will add updates. Sometimes, when there's a holiday, we add some fun icons that show up in every puppy section. Recently, we added a cool page that is called "Nintendogs." Nintendogs is a kind of game you take care of puppies. We have lots of information about Nintendogs, if you're new to it or need help on it.

Hey look, I visited the site, and it is SAWEET! Thank you to the webmaster of My Puppy Page for creating a great site that is safe and fun! Remember to follow the rules on the chat box before using it. The website again is: <http://mypuppypage.weebly.com>

Here is another website that helps to protect animals from abuse! I have looked at this website and also asked the webmaster to submit an article! The address is: <http://care4animals.weebly.com> (sorry about the break again!)

Well I, Aly, was watching a show about puppy mills and they are very bad! In puppy mills they breed young female dogs till their death. In Pennsylvania when the person who owns the puppy mill finds a dog that can't give birth or have babies anymore they just shot them till their dead! There are puppy mills all around the world and I am trying to help stop them. Here are some ideas so that you can help. Never, ever, buy an animal from a pet store because, chances are, every single one of [the dogs] have been to a puppy mill. If you want to get an animal, adopt one from a shelter so basically you are rescuing them. Then always spay and neuter your pet because then it will be less animals that have to suffer pain. Then protest if you really want to help. Email to your best friends about this.

Well excellent article Aly! That address is again: <http://care4animals.weebly.com>

This is Sunny Days, Real Appeal Mascot, signing off!

The Point, Please?

We have gotten a comment asking, "What is the point of this website?" Well, if you have been with Real Appeal the last two years, or if you just heard about it, this is basically the reason I will share with you.

I have made another newsletter before this one, and it came to an end because no one was reading it anymore. But then, I decided I could have people submit articles instead of actually "work" for it (besides the people who voluntarily wanted to be on the staff committee)! I decided that if they submitted the articles, we could give what people want!

Okay, so you're still confused about the whole point, right? Well the point is mainly to EXPRESS YOURSELF IN WRITING! I love sharing stories and giving people comments on them, and knowing that you contribute and give everyone a piece of your mind is rewarding!

Write about anything you want (as long as it's appropriate)!

The Point, Please? (continued from front page)

So if what I described didn't answer your question, email Real Appeal at (you should have memorized this by now!) realappeal@hotmail.com. If what I described did make some sense to you and you want to contribute monthly, continue on, my friend!

So we have an advice column, a talk page, a cooking page, a health page, a contest page, and a soon-to-be reading page, but you're asking, what should I write about?

Write about anything you want (as long as it's appropriate)!

Don't be afraid to express your thoughts and feelings on some particular topic! Who knows, maybe your article could get noted on the front page of Real Appeal! I can also help with website constructing to make your website more interesting and have a steady flow of viewers (I know Real Appeal World does!). And don't forget to nominate someone for the Sunny Luvs You Award! I hope you have all gotten answers or ideas from this article. Have a great rest-of-the-summer!

Cheryl: Don't forget to enter in contests and polls!

The Summer Adventures of Sunny Days

Sunny: How's your summer so far, Cheryl?

Cheryl: Wild.

Sunny: Well I bet with regular sunball practices and sales at the mall. Have you even made any money this summer?

Cheryl: No...not really.

Sunny: Look there's four dollar fuel down on Earth and your probably complaining about the cheap comet dust! I mean, look at those poor earthlings trying to pay for their gas! They just fill up and the prices go up again!

Cheryl: Seriously Sunny, It isn't our problem.

Sunny: Yeah, and running out of money isn't my problem either then.

Cheryl: Fine I'll get a summer job and call it good alright!

Sunny: Well it might be a start at least for you. I basically have a full-time job managing Real Appeal World and writing articles for Real Appeal.

Cheryl: And goofing off by lunchtime.

Sunny: Hey no one's supposed to know that!

Cheryl: Oh I'm sure no one's supposed to know that. That's why I said it.

Sunny: It isn't like you have a full time job at Real Appeal!

Cheryl: I know I don't. But when was that my problem?

Sunny: Well... I guess it isn't so just go off to sunball practice our you'll be late.
